

2016 Gladstone Prize Shortlist

---

The Royal Historical Society offers an annual award of £1,000 for a history book published in English on any topic that is not primarily British history. To be eligible for the prize the book must be its author's first solely written book on a historical subject which is not primarily related to British history. The book must also be an original and scholarly work of historical research by a scholar normally resident in the United Kingdom and have been published in English in 2015. This award is supported by a generous grant from the Linbury Trust.

Christopher Dillon

Dachau and the SS: A Schooling in Violence
Oxford University Press

Sam Edwards

Allies in Memory: World War II and the Politics of Transatlantic Commemoration, c.1941-2001
Cambridge University Press

Emma Hunter

Political Thought and the Public Sphere in Tanzania: Freedom, Democracy and Citizenship in the Era of Decolonization
Cambridge University Press

Aaron Jaffer

Lascars and Indian Ocean Seafaring, 1780-1860
Boydell & Brewer Ltd

Jan Machielsen

Martin Delrio: Demonology and Scholarship in the Counter-Reformation
Oxford University Press

Martin Ruehl

The Italian Renaissance in the German Historical Imagination, 1860–1930
Cambridge University Press